SEEING IS BELIEVING HOW THE WEEDS GROW

(Courier Photo)

Lakeshore residents in the south end of the city no longer doubt weed growth in Okanagan Lake is increasing. They have the proof of their beaches. A recent windstorm stirred the water, uprooted aquatic plants and tossed them onto the shoreline. Above, Mayor R. F. Parkinson inspects one of the several beaches affected. In the background the owners of two nearby resorts look on. The city's sewage outfall runs out into the lake in the south end of the city. The nitrates and phosphates contained in the sewage increases algae and weed growth which in turn decay and add to the pollution of the lake in the area of the outfall. The pollution process is a natural one, but is speeded up many times by the chemicals in the treated sewage. This process, called eutrophication, cannot be reversed, pollution cannot be removed, only slowed down or stopped at its existing level. See story page three.

Ky Takes An Axe To Army Leaders

SAIGON (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky confirmed today that many South Vietnamese army officers would be swept out for corruption and inefficiency.

"It is not a purge but rather a cleaning up of the army ranks," Ky told a press conference. "This has always been the policy of my government."

The premier, running for vice-president on a military slate headed by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, also said that if he is beaten in the Sept. 3 elections, he will go back to the South Vietnamese Air Force and "be a pilot."

Ky took leave of his post as air force commander for the campaign. In the Mekong Delta, Thieu made his first appearance on the same platform with the 10 civilian candidates running for president. Thieu told a cheering throng of 2,500 at My Tho that if he is elected president he will ask North Vietnam "if they want to meet to talk about peace."

WILL STOP BOMBING Thieu told the rally, "I will agree to stop bombing North Vietnam for one week to show good will for peace. If Hanoi does not show good will for peace, we will continue the war."

Thieu first suggested a bombing pause Aug. 8 but observers in Saigon doubt that the United States would go along with a pause unless Hanoi indicated it would reciprocate.

Former premier Tran Van Huong, considered the leading civilian candidate, showed his strength in My Tho, 30 miles south of Saigon, by drawing as many cheers as Thieu.

Until today, Thieu and Ky had avoided campaign appearances with the other candidates.

Jets Roar Into Tonkin Gulf For New Raid On Reds' Base

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Navy jets roared in from carriers in the Tonkin Gulf Friday for the third attack in five days on North Vietnam's main naval base, 30 miles from China.

Meanwhile air force pilots continued to hammer enemy supply lines.

U.S. pilots had raided the Port Walcott naval base, 61 miles northeast of Haiphong, Monday for the first time. They also hit Thursday.

Eight-engine B-52 bombers flew two bombing missions today inside and just below the so-called demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam, making a total of five raids in two days following a Communist attack from there.

Recent ground action, below the buffer zone was among indications the Communists might try, as they did early in the summer, to push into Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province.

Canadian Executives To Aid Underdeveloped Countries

OTTAWA (CP)—Top-flight Canadian executives will be given assignments to work in underdeveloped countries through a new voluntary organization now being formed.

External Affairs Minister Martin announced Friday.

He said the first business and professional men will leave this fall for short-term assignments abroad.

Motivated businessmen Claude Hebert has launched the Canadian Executive Service Overseas (CESO).

Teachers soon to take up external aid jobs overseas.

CESO will undertake to provide senior company executives and professional men on relatively short-term assignments to give entrepreneurial advice and assistance in tackling some of the toughest and complex development problems faced by industries and governments in the developing countries.

CESO has been formed as a non-profit corporation in cooperation with the Canadian University Service Overseas.

Second B.C. Man Fined $150 For Entering Closed Forests

VANCOUVER (CP)—A second British Columbia man was fined Friday for entering a closed forest area, as the province continued its battle against hundreds of fires.

Robert Leader of Natal was fined $150 in Fernie magistrate's court for fishing in the Nelson forest district, which is closed to recreation. Another man was fined $200 earlier in the week for a similar offence.

Also under recreation closure are the Kamloops and Vancouver forest districts. Most of the Vancouver district, which includes Vancouver Island and a large portion of southwestern B.C., also is closed to industrial operations.

Four Arabs Die In Aden Fight

ADEN (Reuters)—Four Arabs were killed and 11 other persons, including two British soldiers, injured in two separate clashes in Aden today.

The four deaths occurred in the British protectorate's Crater Town when a British patrol opened fire on Arabs who made a grenade attack on the patrol.

During the last week 274 fires were reported and 306 extinguished, leaving 322 still burning early today. Fire fighting costs for the week ending Friday were $1,021,200.

A total of $3,581,600 has been spent fighting the 2,704 fires reported since the fire season started May 1. Last year the cost was $550,000 for 1,666 fires over the same period.

A long range forecast prepared for the forestry department predicts hot, dry weather until the second week of September.

The only part of the province not reporting extreme conditions are the Prince George and Prince Rupert districts where rain and cooler weather are predicted.

The Nelson district reports 129 fires, including a 6,000-acre blaze on Sentinel Mountain, near Castlegar in south-central B.C., that has been burning for nearly three years.

Forestry spokesmen say guards finally have been established around the blaze and they hope it now can be contained. More than 400 men aided by 31 bulldozers were reported holding a 25,000-acre blaze near Magna Bay on the north side of Shuswap Lake in the Kamloops district, about 250 miles northeast of Vancouver.

Forest Fire Snuffed Out At Kelowna

A forest fire six miles west of Kelowna, in the Rose Valley Dam area, consumed approximately a half-acre of young timber Friday.

The fire started about 2 p.m. in an abandoned cabin and spread to the timber. One acre of land was involved.

Four water bombers from Kamloops dropped 3,000 gallons of a chemical mixture on the fire and 30 men fought two hours before the blaze was under control. A bulldozer and earth scraper were also used.

"The potential existed for a very dangerous fire," David Karran, assistant forest ranger, said today. "Flames reached 30 to 40 feet in some places. The area was extremely dry and a slight breeze was spreading the fire south-eastwards."

Two sawmills were asked to send men to assist the eight-man suppression crew of the B.C. Forest Service in Kelowna. Ten men were supplied by Gorman's sawmill in Westbank and six from the S. M. Simpson sawmill in Kelowna.

"Fast action on the part of the sawmill crews, and by the water bombers, saved us from having a serious fire on our hands," Mr. Karran said. Six volunteers also fought the fire.

A half-acre of young timber is said to be worth about $50. The owner of the land has not yet been determined, Mr. Karran said.

Saturn Moves For Blast Off

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Saturn V, the most powerful rocket ever built, moved today toward its launching pad on the back of a diesel-powered transporter that resembled a giant mechanical turtle.

The rocket is scheduled for an October test launching, the first of a series that will qualify it to boost U.S. astronauts towards the moon in two or three years.

Towering 364-feet above the huge transport the Saturn and its Apollo spacecraft were an impressive sight. More than 200 space officials and reporters gathered to see it moved from the huge assembly building.

Also perched upright on the transporter was a 380-foot mobile launching tower to service the rocket.

When the rocket leaves the ground, it will generate 7,500,000 pounds of thrust from five first-stage engines. This is nearly five times greater than the thrust of any previous U.S. booster and is believed to be at least twice the thrust of anything fired by the Russians.

U.S. Applies Saigon Curfew

SAIGON (Reuters)—U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker ordered today a 31-hour curfew for all United States government employees in Saigon during the Sept. 3 presidential elections.

The order also applied to American citizens employed by firms contracted to the U.S. government.

The embassy meanwhile requested U.S. citizens who do not fall into these categories to observe the curfew from 9 p.m. Saturday to 4 a.m. Monday.

U.S. government employees and military personnel normally are subject to a nightly curfew here of 11 p.m. to 4 a.m.

Military officials said no extended curfew order has yet been given to U.S. servicemen for next weekend.

Penticton 'Bomb'—Girl Questioned

PENTICTON (CP)—Police are questioning a 19-year-old girl in this Okanagan city after a bomb threat resulted in evacuation of a hospital.

The Penticton General Hospital was evacuated after a telephone bomb threat Friday night. Eighty-five persons, including 14 babies, were moved out of the hospital.

A police search failed to turn up a bomb.

There was no panic and patients believed the evacuation was a normal escape exercise.

LURE, France (AP)—Elise Poutrey died Friday at the age of 92 after an accident last week in which her bicycle swerved into the path of a motor vehicle policeman.

Former Friend Held As Killer Of Nazi Leader

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Police held a former Nazi firebrand, accused of slaying George Lincoln Rockwell, under heavy guard today while Rockwell's heir-apparent vowed to carry on.

Rockwell, 49, founder of the American Nazi party, was killed in his car Friday by two cleanly-placed shots as he was leaving the parking lot of a small shopping centre near his home.

Five hours later, police charged John C. Patler, 29, former No. 4 man in the small U.S. party's hierarchy, with murder. Bail was set at $50,000.

Matthias Koehl, second in command to Rockwell, told reporters: "I don't know of anyone who can fill his shoes, but we'll all do everything we can to carry on."

Koehl said Patler was expelled from the party last April because of his "Bolshevik leanings." He had been a member of the group which directs its hate toward Negroes and Jews, almost since its founding in 1958.

Rockwell once described Patler as the party's propaganda minister and Patler edited the organization's magazine Stormtrooper until early this year.

Patler, also of Arlington, was to appear in court Monday to determine the date of his preliminary hearing.

Rockwell was shot after leaving a coin-operated laundry in the shopping centre, one block from party headquarters. The shots, fired from a low roof over a barber shop, struck him in the head and chest. He fell out of the right side of the 10-year-old, rusted car.

Patler was arrested 45 minutes later, a half mile from the scene. Police would not say whether a weapon had been found or whether he had made a statement.

Patler often was in the forefront of Nazi party harassing activities and it brought him a long string of arrests.

Patler once wrote: "I learned early that the only way you can stop terrorism and force is with superior terrorism and superior force."

Hong Kong Police Use Tear Gas To Send Banner-Wavers Home

HONG KONG (CP)—Police fired tear gas to disperse some 1,000 banner-waving demonstrators in central Hong Kong today as political unrest continued in the British colony.

The demonstrators, chanting left-wing slogans, blocked off busy streets at lunch hour close to the heart of the city.

One demonstrator was arrested. Police fired seven rounds of tear gas to disperse the crowd after a 10-minute demonstration.

The colony's 17-mile border with China was quiet today after incidents Friday.

Police meanwhile said the terrorist killing this week of radio comedian Lam Bun, 37, who ridiculed Communist agitators, indicates the Communists are switching from random bombings to a planned assassination campaign.

Authorities offered protection to anyone who has been threatened or feels he is in danger from terrorists.

Police formed a special squad to ferret out terrorists who have marked anti-Communists for death.

After the popular Chinese comedian was turned into a human torch and fatally burned, Hong Kong Communist newspapers carried the boast of terrorists that they had executed La mfor ridiculing the Communists.

There were bombings Friday in the main section of Hong Kong and at Lown, on the 17-mile Chinese-Hong Kong border.

Two policemen investigating a fake bomb laid in a street and three bystanders were injured when two real bombs were hurled at them from rooftops.

In Peking, Donald Hopson, British charge d'affaires, was trying to get exit visas for women and children of the diplomatic mission after Chinese mobs burned down the legation Tuesday.

Final Victory In Vietnam 'Must Come On Ground'

Defence Secretary McNamara, defending the U.S. administration's selective bombing tactics against North Vietnam, said in Washington Friday he still is convinced the war must be won by ground troops in South Vietnam. "The final decision in this conflict will not come until we and our allies prove to North Vietnam she cannot win in the South," he said. His argument at a closed session of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, which marked no change in his previous position, failed to persuade subcommittee members who want the bombing stepped up. Senator Stuart Symington (Dem. Mo.) said that if McNamara is right then his top military leaders are wrong. The military chiefs have told the Senate group that recent increased bombing is hurting North Vietnam.

mediator to end the seafarers' dispute with Great Lakes shipping companies.

Manitoba Premier Duff Roblin, a candidate for leadership of the Conservative party, emphasized Canadian unity in Kingston, Ont., Friday on the final stop of his one-day tour of eastern Ontario. Mr. Roblin said Quebec should be given no "particular status" but changes that do not seriously weaken the constitution should be considered "if they make the province feel at home in Confederation."

A union leader said Friday in Port Alberni he intends to press a claim for $35,000 for members of the International Woodworkers of America now on firefighting duties on Vancouver Island. Walter Allen, president of the Port Alberni local of the IWA, said the amount is the difference between what firefighters are being paid and what he believes they should receive.

Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. Friday reported an operating profit for the first half of this year of $150,000 more than for the same period of last year. President Glenn McPherson said in Vancouver the company's gross revenue has increased and at the same time the operating costs have been reduced making the profits possible.

Dr. H. William Bridge has been appointed Director of Mental Services for British Columbia, the health department announced Friday in Victoria.

Four members of the same Prince Rupert street riot July 22, were sentenced Friday to up to five months. Thomas Daniels, 20, was sentenced to five months for assaulting a police officer and fined $1,000 or four months, consecutive, if in default, for obstructing a peace officer. His brother Gary was sentenced to three months and was fined $1,000, or three months if in default, on the same charges. Their sister Kay Francis Daniels, 24, and mother Emily Francis, 45, each received three months for obstructing a police officer. Their father, Joseph Daniels, whose arrest sparked the riot and a half of rock and beer-bottle throwing, will appear in court next week on an intoxication charge.

Police on the lower mainland were searching for Caroline Walker, who fled from Vancouver General Hospital Friday while under police guard. She was awaiting trial on a drug charge when she disappeared.

Two U.S. Army enlisted men have been charged with conspiring to deliver national defence information to a foreign government, the U.S. defence department announced Friday in Washington. The two men were identified as Sgt. Ulysses Harris of Neptune, N.J., and S. Sgt. Leonard J. Safford of Chillum, Md.

Involved were Evans' two 60-year-old Vancouver firms—B.C. Collateral Loan Brokers Ltd., and B.C. Collateral Sales Ltd. and Evans himself.

Four young Vancouver residents Friday were sentenced to a day in jail in Montreal and fined $50 for having been illegally in possession of marijuana. Barbara O'Brien, Mica Soya, Eric Donald Hale and Duncan James Bremner, all in their late teens or early 20s, were arrested last week following a raid by RCMP on a downtown Montreal apartment.

King Constantine and Queen Anne Marie of Greece dined Friday night with Mayor and Mrs. John Lindsay in New York while Greek demonstrators marched outside in a steady rain shouting the name of an imprisoned political opponent of the country's ruling military junta.

Straying Canadian Jet Fighters Causes Ottawa Embarrassment

OTTAWA (CP)—Some Canadian-made Starfighter jet fighter-bombers are believed to have ended up in Nationalist China and Spain, informed defence sources say.

These planes are among 140 Starfighters produced at Canadair Ltd., Montreal, under a $200,000,000 arrangement made between Canada and the United States in 1961 for their military aid programs to other countries.

The aircraft came off the assembly line between September, 1963, and October, 1965. There is apparently a good deal of embarrassment in government departments about the present location of some of the 140 planes. No authority will talk officially about the subject.

Qualified sources say, however, that some of the planes were originally destined for Nationalist China and Spain under the U.S. military assistance program and that there is no reason to believe they were not sent there.

One source said a "few" of the Starfighters are in Nationalist China.

Other countries involved in the program are Denmark, Norway, Greece and Turkey.

Paul Muni Dies At 71

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Paul Muni, who painstakingly studied the lives of men of accomplishment and played them to perfection, died Friday of a heart attack at his home in nearby Conejo. He rose to stardom in the part of a tough gangster in Scarface, but gained acclaim in portraying the lives of great men, including his Oscar-winning role as scientist Louis Pasteur.

The Australian-born actor was 71. Muni is survived by his wife, Bella, and two brothers. Although he lost his left eye because of a tumor in 1955, Muni made a successful comeback. But he had been in poor health recently.

His practice was to immerse himself in a role, especially such biographical portrayals as the title role in The Story of Louis Pasteur, which won him an Oscar award in 1936. By painstaking research—up to 20 hours a day—he sought to duplicate the person's life, appearance and mannerisms of Pasteur, Emile Zola and Benito Juarez, whose lives he played. His rise to stardom began in Scarface in 1928. He earned another Oscar nomination in The Good Earth, but his favorite role was in the lively overlooked I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang.

To Be Prison Without Pain... That's Drumheller's Aim

DRUMHELLER, Alta. (CP)—Canada's newest penitentiary, a pastel-painted prison which offers prisoners a life that simulates the outside as much as possible, is to be opened officially today.

Twenty-five convicts, including three serving life terms, are already in the $9,000,000 medium-security institution and there will be 450 after it approaches full operation late next year.

Most of them will be young offenders, and a sprinkling of "reformable adults."

The warden, Winnipeg-born Pierre Jutras, 54, a veteran of 31 years of federal penitentiary service, who says the new prison will try to provide a "relaxed atmosphere" to help rehabilitation.

"What we will try to teach the men is to build up their self-confidence and self reliance," he said. "There will be as few regulations as possible to give them a chance to make some decisions of their own."

But he says his staff has no magic pill, and for a start "the prisoners are rejects and failures in every step of life, sent here by judges in despair, so we have 2½ strikes against us already."

First sign of the atmosphere at the campus-style prison, 65 miles northeast of Calgary, is that there are no 24-foot stone walls, no guard towers, no .303-calibre rifles—only a simple wire fence.

This new freedom moved one prisoner—who had been subjected to the fortress-prison security of Prince Albert penitentiary, to complain: "People are peering at us from the outside."

There are four cell units among the 20 buildings on the 64-acre site. Each pastel-colored single cell measures 10 feet by 7½. Windows, without bars, look out over the countryside.

The penitentiary will offer academic education to Grade 12 and a shop area is under construction where vocational training is to start next year. There will be four teachers on staff.

ROCKWELL IDOLIZED HITLER

That might sum up Rockwell's philosophy too. Rockwell, in lectures at college campuses, said often, "I am a racist."

Remarks made by Rockwell in 1962 during a visit to Sherbrooke, Que., and Montreal brought strong protests from the Jewish community. The Canadian government barred him from further visits, although he managed to slip into Canada again in 1964 for a trip to Vancouver.

Rockwell, who idolized Adolf Hitler, advocated "transporting all Negroes to Africa, stripping Jews of property and sterilizing them."

He was in the U.S. Navy in the Second World War and during the Korean War and attained the rank of commander before he was released from active duty in 1954. The navy discharged him from the reserves in 1960 because of his conduct.

Rockwell refused to say how many members were in the party, but knowledgeable people said it has fewer than 100 members.

Rockwell was the son of George Doe Rockwell, an old time vaudeville actor who played on Fred Allen's radio show.

Early today, his body still lay unclaimed at the county hospital, although a police lieutenant said party members and some relatives had made inquiries.

City Chlorinator Not Big Enough Says Dr. Clarke

Kelowna needs a larger chlorinator for its sewage treatment plant, local health officials say. The officials also expressed concern about boats discharging sewage into Okanagan Lake. The comments are contained in the third quarterly report of the South Okanagan Health Unit.

Medical health officer Dr. D. A. Clarke says the matter of sewage disposal from tug boats has been taken up with the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways.

"The CNR has advised a distiller or monomarine holding tanks will be installed with arrangements for discharging into the city sewage system," the report says.

Dr. Clarke says an excursion boat with a 600-person capacity is planned for the Kelowna area, and the owners have agreed to install holding tanks for sewage, with discharge into the city system.

The report says bacteriological quality assessments made on nine community water supplies reveal a generally satisfactory picture. Shaboolard (Westside Cays) and the upper Westbank systems showed slight contamination due to chlorinator problems.

Sun-Rype Products Ltd., has completed a pilot treatment study on disposal of industrial wastes and engineers have been hired to design the pre-treatment plant which will reduce the BOD levels to the point where the city sewage treatment plant can accommodate the material.

No serious problems were found in inspections made in eating and drinking establishments in School District 23 (Kelowna).

Licence Suspension Idea Will Take In All Province

An announcement from Victoria that the roadside suspension program is to be extended to cover all the province Oct. 1, has the approval of Kelowna officials.

Sgt. L. R. Crosby says the program will serve a definite purpose and Magistrate D. M. White described the move as "good legislation."

The program was first inaugurated in Victoria April 1 as an experiment and was extended to the Lower Mainland Aug. 1.

Under the legislation, a police officer can demand the licence of a motorist suspected of excessive drinking and hold it for a 24-hour period.

If the driver disagrees with the officer's judgment he may request a voluntary breath test to prove his blood-alcohol level is below the .08 per cent permitted by the legislation.

Sgt. Crosby said, initially, only experienced constables will handle the program in the Kelowna area. They have been instructed in the use of the breath test machine although this detachment has not yet received the device.

"I don't think the program will greatly decrease the number of drinking drivers, but it will get them off the road," Sgt. Crosby said.

He said just how much alcohol a person can consume before registering more than the .08 allowed, depends on many factors: individual reaction, weight, sensitivity, but he said two drinks would probably be safe but the third might not.

Some lawyers have expressed the feeling the new legislation, referred to as "curbside law," gives constables too much power.

The sergeant says constables always had the power to make an arrest and suspending a licence is a lesser decision.

When a constable stops a driver who is impaired, he will arrest him but when a driver is stopped who has been drinking to the point where his driving is affected, but where impairment might be hard to prove, the new legislation will be used to get that driver off the road.

If the driver claims he has not had too much to drink, he may ask to take the test. He will be given a balloon to blow up and the balloon will then be attached to a tube containing granules which color according to the amount of alcohol consumed.

The results of the test cannot be used as evidence for an indication charge of impaired driving, the sergeant said.

"The new legislation gives a policeman the opportunity to safeguard both the driving public and the drinking driver," Sgt. Crosby said.

Magistrate White says the program will reduce the number of motor vehicle accidents which are caused by drinking drivers.

He said if handled properly, by experienced policemen, the result could be a decrease in the number of fatalities and property damage.

"All that is required now, is for the public to lend its cooperation," he said. "People should accept this legislation, passed to assist them, through curbing the alcoholic driver."

The legislation was passed at the 1966 session of the B.C. Legislature but was not proclaimed until this year.

The announcement that the program was to be extended to include the rest of the province on Oct. 1, was made by the cabinet Thursday.

Heart Disease Still Leads As South Okanagan Killer

Heart disease is still the number one killer in the South Okanagan Health Unit area.

During the period April to July, a total of 242 deaths from various causes were recorded, an increase of 42, or 20 per cent from the same period in 1966.

The health unit area includes six school districts, from Oliver and Princeton to Kelowna.

Although heart disease was the leading cause of death, accidents took first place, based on lost life years. Accidents accounted for 51.8 per cent of the lost life years.

School District 23 (Kelowna) had the most lost life years during the three-month period, 366. Penitence was second with 146 lost life years.

Of the 128 deaths in the health unit area from heart disease, 61 were in School District 23. In 1966 the health unit had 86 heart deaths.

Cancer accounted for 36 deaths, down five from last year. School District 23 had 18 of the 36 deaths.

Accidental deaths rose to 23 from 14, with 12 of them in the Kelowna school district.

Respiratory deaths were up to 18 from 11 with nine in School District 23.

The second highest number of lost life years was through cancer, 213, followed by heart disease with 141 lost life years.

The 23 accidental deaths include 12 in School District 23, seven car accidents, two drownings, and one death each from suicide, an aircraft crash and a horseback riding accident.

Medical health officer, Dr. D. A. Clarke noted in his quarterly report the increase in the number of drownings, three in 1966 and seven in the 1967 quarter.

Seven Poison Control Cases Each A Different Material

Seven patients were treated at the poison control centre in the Kelowna General Hospital between April 1 to July 31.

The poison taken was different in each case. Most patients were children from 15 months to a three-year-old. One was a woman of 28 who took tranquilizers.

Three cases were recorded in April; children taking a candy-coated laxative; paint thinner and a pine oil disinfectant.

The laxative was obtained when the child climbed on a chair and reached a cupboard. The paint thinner was consumed from a can containing paint brushes. The mother was on a telephone when the child got the disinfectant from a cupboard.

A fourth child ingested pills left on the floor by a grandmother packing a suitcase.

Venereal Disease Statistics Reveal Sharp Rise In District

Venereal diseases are on the increase in the South Okanagan Health Unit area, according to figures released in the health officer's quarterly report.

A sharp rise was also noted in the number of cases of chickenpox, up to 31 from 18 during the same quarter (May, June and July) last year.

Although the July figure for cancer cases was not included in the report, the total for May and June was 17, compared with 74 for the three-month period last year.

During May, June and July this year 36 cases of gonorrhea were noted and one of syphilis.

Dr. D. A. Clarke noted in his report the number was "a sharp rise from the seven cases recorded for the same period in 1966. There were 20 in 1965.

Of the 37 cases, 22 were in School District 23 (Kelowna).

There was a total of 120 cases of notifiable diseases in the health unit area during the quarter. Males dropped from 28 cases last year to 20 this quarter, and infectious hepatitis from 10 to two cases, tuberculosis from three to one case.

A case of a rattlesnake bite was recorded at Okanagan Falls and a wood tick bite with paralysis at Princeton.

Summer Of Service '67 Attracted Two City Girls

Two Kelowna students who spent the summer doing volunteer work will return home about Sept. 2.

Barbara Bird, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bird, 2515 Pandosy St., and Aleen Denegre, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Denegre, 544 Christie, spent the summer working in Toronto.

Both girls are Grade 12 students at the Immaculate High School.

The girls were taking part in an operation called Summer of Service, sponsored by about 15 Christian denominations and groups.

There were about 40 projects and there were projects in each province.

The volunteers all spent a week training in either Winnipeg or Toronto, and then were sent in teams of four to six to various projects across Canada.

The project closer with an assembly at Waterloo, Ont., where both girls are now. The assembly is to evaluate work done and examine the problems uncovered.

During the summer, the volunteers received no salary, but their travel expenses were paid, and room and board provided.

Miss Bird and Miss Denegre left Kelowna late in June to begin their service work. They will return home by train together, but while in Toronto, they worked on separate projects.

Miss Bird worked with young people, and Miss Denegre in a community of low-income elderly people.

B.C. Lumber Dispute Hearing Could Finish By Thursday

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Mr. Justice F. Craig Munroe's inquiry into the Interior lumber workers' dispute will resume Monday when final arguments will be presented by representatives of the companies and the International Woodworkers of America.

The B.C. Supreme Court judge said that with co-operation there is no reason the inquiry cannot be concluded by Tuesday evening.

Operators in both the northern and southern sections of the industry have rejected the IWA demand for wage parity with Coast Rates for the 8,000 Interior workers. They say differences between the two areas make it impossible for the Interior to afford parity rates.

Their offers of 20 cents in the north and 26 cents in the south have been rejected by the union which claims the operators' profits are protected by stumpage procedures and can meet the parity demand.

Parity would require a 50-cent hourly raise on the present $2.26 base rate.

The operators Monday will argue in rebuttal to the IWA claims and the IWA will then submit its rebuttal arguments.

If They Throw At You Simply Throw Back At Them

A marshmallow fight with audience participation is part of the mime program by Simon Fraser University students in the City Park.

The mime is part of the Okanagan Summer Art Festival and has proved so successful that two performances a day are given instead of one noon-hour presentation.

The troupe of eight players performs on the grass with a minimum of props, using only recorded sound effects. They do about nine different segments, beginning with a free improvisation and moving into planned sketches. Most of these sketches are based on the theme of who is real, and who is the fake or mirror image.

Only two members of the troupe have had previous mime experience, and because of anagony and other major performance—and the examination of the performance in Kelowna was put together in five days.

A performance will be given today at 5 p.m., and the final performance will be at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Bob Hamblen, a Grade 11 student at Sumnerland secondary, is assisting the troupe by running the sound system used during the performances.

Jan Visscher, the director of the mime says the performance was developed from improvisation while listening to sound effects, and from ideas suggested by the performers.

The festival concludes in Kelowna Sunday, but the play Little Malcolm moves to Vernon for two performances Monday and Tuesday.

Exhibitions, poetry readings, and folk singing will continue in the City Park until Sunday, as will the public participation section where paints, brushes and easels have been provided.

Illegitimate Births Still On Increase

Illegitimate births continue to rise in the South Okanagan Health Unit area and in School District 23 (Kelowna).

In his quarterly report, health officer Dr. D. A. Clarke, says a total of 29 illegitimate births were recorded during the period April to July, 15 of them in the Kelowna school district.

In 1966 a total of 85 illegitimate births were recorded during the 12-month period, 39 of them in the Kelowna district. The 1966 total was an increase from 1961 when only 48 were recorded.

Of the 29 illegitimate births in the health unit area, nine were in School District 15 (Penitence), three in School District 14 (Oliver) and one each in the Kelowna and Summerland school districts.

Most of the mothers, five, were in the 20 age group and in the 26 to 30 age group.

Agas of mothers in School District 23 included one each at 16, 17, 18, 20 and 31-35. Three of the mothers were 19 and two were 26-30 and two mothers' ages were unknown.

In 1966 there were 27 Indian births in the health unit area and 13 of them were illegitimate.

Bidding Light Buyers Wait

The bidding was light as many in the crowd of 400 waited for "more expensive" items at the Rutland Sawmill in Rutland today.

The highest bid among the first 23 lots was $305 for a six-foot lathe. All other lots were sold at less than $100.

Many ignored the early auctioning to inspect tractors, hoists and trucks scheduled to go on the block later today.

The first 23 lots brought a total of $665 in bidding.

The auction results from the sale of timber holdings by the Rutland and Olinger Lumber Co. Ltd. Bidding was scheduled to last until 7 p.m.

The auction attracted bidders from B.C. and Alberta.

SIGHTS AND FRIENDLINESS IMPRESSIVE

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Green of Guyana, signed the visitor guest book at the city hall Friday and checked Kelowna's scenery with Mayor R. F. Parkinson. Mr. Greene is a third-year student at the University of British Columbia and came to Kelowna through arrangements made by Mrs. Tom Kunstler, Flemish Street, with International House at UBC. During their four days in Kelowna they and their 18-month-old son Odinga are guests of Mrs. William Whelan, North Highland Drive. The Greenes love Kelowna and have commented on the friendliness of the residents. They have visited the art festival, been swimming and saw numerous tourist attractions in the area. They leave Monday to continue on a trip around B.C.

ENFORCED CONTROLS

Pollution Policy Facing Changes

The cabinet has begun a massive push to force municipalities to stop polluting the water tables, rivers, lakes and seashores of British Columbia.

The new policy concerning pollution will be framed in legislation at the next session of the B.C. Legislature but a cabinet order immediately laid down stiff regulations covering installation of septic tanks.

Another order introduces comprehensive regulations on construction and operation of swimming pools, except those in homes or apartment properties.

Aimed at motels, the regulations will not be put into effect until Jan. 1, 1969, to give owners time to adapt.

At a press conference, Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell distributed copies of a letter that is being sent to all 138 municipalities in the province.

The letter says the reconstituted pollution control board will be authorized to set "the level of sewerage treatment to be required" of municipalities and order them to submit engineering plans within six months of the demand.

After the plans are approved by the board, work would have to start within the next 18 months the letter said.

Estimated cost of the mandatory sewerage treatment program is well under $100,000,000, Mr. Campbell said.

This is the first time in this area of municipal services that property owners will not be able to approve the plans through money bylaws.

"The purpose of this new policy is to protect the quality of water in the province's water courses," Mr. Campbell said.

He said the cabinet order "reflects the government's concern" that B.C. avoid pollution problems in other areas of Canada such as the lower St. Lawrence region.

"And within the next two or three weeks we will have something to say about air pollution."

Mr. Campbell said that Greater Victoria "is the biggest urban area now without any sewage treatment facility but there are others such as New Westminster, Prince George, Chilliwack, Langley, Nelson and Trail."

His form letter to the municipalities concluded by asking that each inform him now about its current methods of sewage treatment and plans that have been made to improve them.

"About 90 of the 138 municipalities have sewage treatment in some form or other now but all will come under the policy," he said.

"It may well be that some of the 90—particularly those with sewage lagoons—will have to improve their facilities to meet the new level of standards to be set by the pollution control board."

The minister said the federal government provides up to 25 per cent financial assistance for sewerage and treatment projects through borrowing "forgiveness clauses" in Central Mortgage and Housing loans if certain conditions are met.

But the provincial government "contributes nothing" and does not intend to.

He said provincial grants would be unfair to the majority of communities that have installed treatment facilities on their own.

Mr. Campbell and Health Minister Black, who was also present, said the new policy was prompted by the recent Fraser River pollution study report which recommended municipalities treat effluent before feeding it into water courses.

The septic tank regulations require persons installing a tank to obtain a permit from a medical health officer.

He is empowered to extend the new regulations to any existing septic tank or sewage disposal system that may become a public health danger.

The order set out new specifications for the tanks and no new tank can be covered without final inspection and approval.

A penalty of $100 was prescribed for violating the regulations and "a further penalty exceeding $10 a day for each day thereafter during which the violation continues."

James Clough, Westbank, was fined $500 when he pleaded guilty to driving while his licence was under suspension. He was fined $150 four days ago on a similar charge.

Steven Brett Coe, Kelowna, pleaded guilty to an impaired driving charge and was fined $200 and prohibited from driving for six months. He was found passed out in a car in a ditch on Highway 97 south at 11:30 p.m. Friday, the prosecutor said.

Charles Andrew Clark, Kelowna, was fined $300 when he pleaded guilty to the theft of cigarettes from the IGA store Friday at 8:20 p.m. He had two previous convictions for similar offences.

Richard John Brunner was fined $100 Friday when he pleaded guilty to driving without due care and attention and $150 when he was convicted of causing a disturbance by impeding or molesting persons. The charge arose from a fracas in the Royal Anne beer parlor.

In district magistrate's court Friday, the trial began for four men charged with possession of stolen property, a refrigerator and cupboard. Robert John Meunier, Donald Neil McInven, Dale Bobby Nygaard and Edward Ross Spencer were charged jointly. After the Crown's evidence was submitted and part of the defence, the case was adjourned to the next available date, Oct. 4.

Man Faces Four Charges

A man, charged with committing four criminal offences in Kelowna in August 1966, was apprehended recently and appeared in magistrate's court here today.

Ferenc Csepregi, alias Stefan Chapracy, of no fixed address, was charged with three counts of uttering a forged document, cheques, and one charge of false pretences, obtaining goods from Williams Men's Wear in Kelowna. He was remanded without plea to Monday. The prosecutor said the accused was currently serving a sentence in a forestry camp at Campbell River, which would run to 1968.

Magistrate R. J. S. Moir imposed $1,000 in fines in "three cases today."

Dog On Road Car In Ditch

A Kelowna driver, Kenneth Perry, 421 Wardlaw Ave., escaped injury early today when his car went over a 30-foot embankment on Campbell Road, Westbank.

The driver told police he swerved to avoid a dog which ran in front of his car. He lost control of the vehicle and left the roadway. The accident occurred at 3 a.m. and damage was estimated at $1,000.

Police are investigating a report of a Hippie being beaten in the City Park at 1:15 a.m. today. The Hippie told a city park employee someone beat him. No further details were available.

H. C. Waters, 745 Francis Ave., told police someone threw a stone through a plate glass window of his home at 12:40 p.m. Friday. The glass is valued at $15.

Weed Check On Sunday

A flotilla of boats will leave the rowing club in the City Park Sunday at 8:30 a.m. to tour Okanagan Lake, south of the pollution, to check signs of water pollution.

The tour is being sponsored by the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce. The mayor and aldermen have been invited to make the trip, also anyone who is concerned about lake pollution.

The chamber executive is arranging for boats and about 30 people are expected to take part. In case of a wind, the tour will be cancelled.

Sunny ...

Friday's low and high temperatures were 46 and 80, compared with a low of 39 and high of 81 a year ago.

Low tonight and high Sunday at Penitence 48 and 85, Kamloops 46 and 85, Lytton and Castlegar 50 and 90, Cranbrook 40 and 80, and Revelstoke 50 and 85.

Trailer Drivers Cause Numerous Complaints

During the past few weeks, the motor vehicle branch in Victoria has received numerous complaints from travellers about the difficulties they have experienced in their encounters with house trailers and campers on our highways. Long lines of traffic have resulted where drivers of trailers and campers have neglected to pull over for the purpose of allowing following vehicles to pass.

The bulletin issued by the MVB points out that the operator of a house trailer or a camper should pull over and let the faster moving traffic pass, when it begins to pile up behind him. If he is following another vehicle and is unable to pass, he should leave enough distance between that vehicle and himself so that a faster moving car can pass him without having to pass the vehicle in front also.

It is a sad commentary, but if their actions on the road are any criterion, the great majority of the drivers with trailers or campers have never heard of these suggestions. True, there are a few who do pull over when half a dozen cars pile up behind them. True, too, that a few more do pull over to the slow lane where there are two up lanes on a hill. But, sadly, it must be recorded that in both cases the word "few" is entirely factual.

There is no argument; these vehicles do have their place and their rights on the road. But so do other vehicles. And no vehicle has the right to deliberately prevent the normal free movement of other vehicles. Yet this is exactly what many trailer and camper drivers do. They refuse to give an inch; they will not slow on a straight stretch to let the pack behind them pass; they will tailgate with another camper or trailer making it just that much more difficult for the faster following traffic to get past.

A few prosecutions as examples is not quite the answer; too many of those which should be reached are out-of-the-province drivers, here today and gone tomorrow.

Perhaps it might help if every driver of a trailer or a camper received a little booklet of instructions as he entered the province. True, it might cost a little money and it would not be completely effective as some drivers would not bother to read it—if they can read. But it would reach some and perhaps the good example of these might eventually get through to the others.

Think Again, Thinkers

(Hamilton Spectator)

When people need friends as desperately as the Conservative Party needs them in Quebec, it is easy to come up with glib promises which are incapable of implementation.

Thus it is that we have the spectacle of the Conservative thinkers conference at Montmorency, Quebec, deciding after quick debate that the constitution should be amended to guarantee French Canadians outside Quebec the same rights that English Canadians have in Quebec, where there is enough French Canadian population to justify such measures. The Tories have now joined the NDP in the business of making futile gestures.

The thinkers should think just a little harder. What they are really saying is that the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and New Brunswick, all of which have French-speaking populations of definable size, are to re-structure their entire governmental apparatus.

In Quebec, English Canadians have the right to speak their tongue in provincial courts, in the provincial legislature, and to educate their children in that language.

Does it then follow automatically that five other Canadian provinces must duplicate all these services? Is Ontario to erect French language schools overnight? Could it do it even if it wanted to? The fact is that for several years Ontario has desperately been trying to extend the teaching of spoken French to younger children and is having a terrible time finding and training the teachers to do it.

But the Tory thinkers have begged the biggest question of all. There has been no notable demand whatsoever for these special facilities on the part of the French Canadians who actually live in the English-majority provinces. The demands emanate not from them, the people affected, but from the French Canadian majority in the province of Quebec which is, to put it bluntly, not worried so much about the duality of facilities elsewhere, but in enforcing beyond argument its claim to being the spiritual and temporal leader of all people of French mother tongue in Canada.

This raises a constitutional problem of far greater magnitude than the one the Tories are actually trying to solve. It asks Ontario to give tacit agreement to a proposal which says that slightly less than 10 per cent of its citizens in fact look to another jurisdiction for guidance in provincial matters. Premier Robarts answered that emphatically nearly 18 months ago. He said no. He said it again Tuesday—at Montmorency.

There are many problems concerning the status of Quebec in Canada which deserve legitimate study, and even so-called concessions on the part of English Canadians, but wasteful duplication of public services is not really one of them.

Fabulous Maharajas Pose Tricky Problem For India

By INDER JIT

NEW DELHI (CP)—India's fabulous maharajas are worrying about the greatest threat to their influence since the nation became independent two decades ago.

The national council of the ruling Congress party has directed Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government to abolish the privy purses paid to the princes and to cut off their special privileges.

If the resolution is implemented most of the 554 maharajas will be hard hit, some even becoming paupers.

When India became independent Aug. 15, 1947, the princely states, with an area of 500,000 square miles and population of 85,500,000, were released from their obligations to the British Crown.

Lord Mountbatten, then governor-general, advised them to join either India or Pakistan, declaring that "only chaos" would result if nothing replaced their link with the Crown.

All the princes accepted the advice and most of them signed agreements to join India, surrendering their ruling powers in return for tax-free privy purses and certain defined privileges.

Size of the privy purse varies depending on the annual revenue of the maharaja's former state. In the period after independence payments totalled $8,120,000 a year, a mere fraction of what the princes used to spend on themselves out of their state treasuries.

The amount now is $8,720,000 a year, the reduction resulting from death or removal of some maharajas. Four of those who died left no heirs and the privy purses were cancelled.

Biggest purse goes to the Nizam of Hyderabad who gets $700,000 a year and smallest to a feudal chief who gets $27. Only six maharajas, including those of Jaipur, Mysore and Patiala, today receive between $70,000 and $140,000 a year. Twenty-five get less than $700.

Princely privileges cover a wide field ranging from gun salutes and state funerals to free driving licences, fishing and hunting rights. The former ruler of Cochin receives 40 free copies each year of the panchangam—local almanac.

They also include free medical facilities, free armed palace guards, the right to fly personal flags on their automobiles, residences and aircraft, free water and electricity, the right to import duty-free items purchased from foreign accounts held since pre-independence days, exemption from local taxes, the right to be addressed by recognized titles, and immunity from lawsuits.

SEEN AS 'BLACKMAIL'

The demand for abolition of privy purses and princely privileges has been raised from time to time over the years. It was turned down on more than one occasion by the late prime minister Nehru and Sardar Patel, the architect of Indian unity, on the ground that failure to fulfil obligation under the solemn agreements with the princes would be "a breach of faith."

But the angry young men of the Congress party, who succeeded in pushing through the abolition resolution at the end of a long, weary day, considered the purses and privileges anachronistic in a democratic socialist society. They insist that the privy purses were the "price of princely blackmail" and there is, therefore, no reason to continue paying them.

Parliament debated the matter in July and almost all the speakers on both sides of the House favoured abolition. Home Minister Y. B. Chavan didn't commit the government on the matter but his comments indicated he was in full agreement with the idea of withdrawing the purses and privileges.

PRINCES PERTURBED

A few princes, such as the Maharaja of Bikaner, have made money in industry, a couple have become diplomats, some have gone into politics, a few have turned their palaces into posh tourist hotels and some have taken to organizing big game safaris. But even they would hate to lose the extra income.

The princes are desperately trying to build a new life. A few have formed an ex-princes' association. A few princes have declared that a unilateral change would automatically abrogate the merger agreements restoring their position as it existed before they joined independent India.

Prime Minister Gandhi has said she once felt strongly that the privy purses should be abolished. But she wasn't in the government then and didn't realize all the implications. Her influential deputy, Morarji Desai, is strongly opposed to abolition.

The Congress party's national executive may have a decision on whether to continue the agreements or not. But in any case, Prime Minister Gandhi appears in no hurry to act one way or the other.

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

Irrigation Projects Of 75 Years Ago

By ART GRAY

The Okanagan Mission notes in the Vernon News in 1891, and 1892, tell of several irrigation ventures in that area, which were the early beginnings of some of the irrigation districts that now supply the life-giving water that is the basis of the Valley's economy.

One report tells of Joseph Brent, son of the pioneer miller, Frederick Brent, "making an irrigation ditch down in the Mission Valley which is a credit to his enterprise." It was to be six and a half miles in length, inclusive of a half mile of natural watercourse that will be utilized. The width of the ditch was three feet at the bottom, with a depth of 18 inches. This may sound like a shallow ditch, but the excavated dirt thrown up on the banks would give the ditch additional depth. In one place 250 feet of fluming will be required, the report states. The water was to be taken from Mill Creek, to irrigate 640 acres of bench and bottom land.

This property was later farmed by George Monford, and parts of the old ditch, dug 75 years ago, can still be seen beside Highway 97 near Tom Carney's place. It would around the hill on the upper part of the Neave and the Burth properties, crossing Sessmith Road below the Catholic Cemetery. For the most part, pumping from Mill Creek has replaced ditch irrigation on these properties today.

Another ambitious project reported is one that was begun that same year by John Bassett and R. Watson, who set out to make a ditch seven miles long, by which water was to be conveyed to their land from a tributary of Mission Creek "running in from the north, on the east side of Black Mountain," an obvious reference to Eight Mile Creek. The report states that "considerable fluming will be required."

A BEGINNING

This early beginning was the basis for the Belge Canadian Land Company's irrigation system some 15 or so years later, now an integral part of the Black Mountain Irrigation District of today. The remains of an old ditch, running northward at the base of Black Mountain can still be discerned, and a Belge survey run by Gray, Sims, Ingis or Engineer C. A. Stoess, at one time contemplated a high level ditch to serve all the range land below the tree line, most of which is still undeveloped.

While irrigation projects were starting to enlarge the area of productive land in the Okanagan Mission valley, beginning the trend away from ranching, initial steps were being taken toward the establishment of a town on the lake front. A report in the News on Sept. 10, 1891 advises that "the Okanagan Sawmills Company's mill has been moved to the lake, near Nicholson's warehouse, a much more convenient location." A week later it was reported that "Messrs. Gillis and Sauter, of the Okanagan," have sold out to Lequime Brothers of Mission Valley for $900. The latter will use her for towing lumber on the lake. The purchase of the boat was to get Bernard Lequime into a lot of trouble with the government later, for Gillis & Dow had neglected to register the vessel.

Fruit growing was still confined pretty much to the growing of a few fruit trees around the home with most residents. The growing of wheat and other grains was the main agricultural development. The News report states that fall that "Messrs. Christian and Sauter were operating a dredging machine in the Mission Valley and we are told that the crops were good and they were kept busy. They have just cleaned over 200 tons of wheat on A. B. Knox's place."

Repercussions from the A. B. Knox "hay burning" trial that rocked the community in that period appear from time to time. An August 27 report in the News states that "After the trial last week Mr. Ellis increased the reward offered by him from $250 to $500. It has been paid out as follows: Balagano $200; Blume $100; Barber $100; J. Brent $50; W. Brent $50."

The same issue tells of Mr. W. Duncan having been appointed to have general management of his farm by Knox and Barber with a knife in Lequime's saloon. They were important witnesses in the Knox case.

PAID COSTS

Later, when Ellis sued to recover damages for the loss of the hay, a jury trial in Kamloops found him "guilty," and Ellis had to pay the costs. An interesting sequel, indicating the character of two of the chief witnesses against A. B. Knox is this item in the December 3, 1891 issue:

"H. Blume was tried before Justices Brent and Postill for attempting to wound Joe Barber with a knife in Lequime's saloon. They were important witnesses in the Knox case."

Back in 1891 certain people who later became prominent citizens of Kelowna and district were residing in what is now Summerland, but then known as "Trout Creek." The Trout Creek notes in the Vernon News of Oct. 8, 1891, are of interest for they tell us that "Mr. Arthur Day is erecting a residence on his ranch, two storeys high with a cottage roof, at a cost of $1000."

"Lloyd-Jones Brothers have the contract. The latter will also erect a similar building on their own property near the lake." In due process of time, the Lloyd-Jones family, and in association with them, Arthur Day, would be taking over operation of that sawmill that was being located by the lake at Okanagan Mission in 1891.

Several important "firsts" were recorded in 1891, one of which was the installation of the first telephone line in the interior by the Postill brothers, connecting their two ranches located at each end of Duck Lake, Edward Postill's ranch being the present day A.C.T. Ranch belonging to Austin Taylor, Ingis or Engineer C. A. Stoess, while his brother William had the ranch formerly belonging to Thom Wood, after whom Wood Lake is named.

The Okanagan Mission notes around this time also record a burst of generosity on the part of the post office department. Bernard Lequime, who amongst many other things was Postmaster there, was glad news that his salary had been raised—by $25 per year!

CANADA'S STORY

Victoria And York Popular Names

By BOB BOWMAN

It's a little confusing but Toronto could have been Fredericton and Regina could have been Victoria. In 1793, John Graves Simcoe, the first Lieutenant Governor of Upper Canada, decided to move the capital from Newark (Niagara) because it was too close to the U.S. border. After touring a large part of the province, he decided on Toronto, an Indian camping ground, but did not like the name. He wanted to call the capital after Frederick, Duke of York, to commemorate his recent victories in Flanders. However, the name Fredericton had been given to the new capital of New Brunswick in 1784, so Simcoe compromised with York. The proclamation was issued on Aug. 26, 1793.

In June 1882 it was decided to shift the capital of the Northwest Territories from Battleford to Pile of Bones where the CPR would cross Wascana Creek. The area got its name because it was a favorite camping ground for buffalo hunters and it was strewn with bison bones. A more dignified name than Pile of Bones had to be found for the capital and most of the settlers wanted to call it Victoria after the queen. However, that name was already being used by the capital of British Columbia, so Princess Louise, wife of Governor General the Marquis of Lethbride, was asked to make the decision. She was a daughter of Queen Victoria and suggested the happy compromise of "Regina." The Lethbride for Queen. The name was adopted officially on Aug. 25, 1882, the day the CPR reached Pile of Bones.

OTHER EVENTS ON AUGUST 26:

1731 Pierre La Verendrye arrived at Grand Portage on first trip west.

1875 Twin railway bridges were completed over Mississippi River, N.B., for Intercolonial Railway.

Steamer "Selkirk" arrived at Winnipeg with 150 tons of railway tracks.

1878 Creek, Assiniboine, and Chippewas signed Treaty No. 6.

1880 First freight train crossed pile bridge at Winnipeg.

1922 Winston Churchill asked Canada to send troops when Turkey attacked Greece. It was known as the "Chanak affair."

1961 Prime Minister Diefenbaker opened Hockey Hall of Fame and announced appropriation of $5,000,000 to help amateur sport.

Brain Wave Test Merely Used As Guide

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: In a recent physical, my doctor told me to have a brain wave test. This was new to me, but I admit being ignorant on such subjects.

The report came back good but I keep wondering about it. Just what would the test prove or disprove?—Mrs. L.J.I.I.

The brain wave, or EEG (electro-encephalogram) is a perfectly painless test, as you now know. It records for the brain pretty much what an electro-cardiogram records for the heart.

Tiny electric currents are constantly flowing through the brain, potentials measured in millionths of a volt. (The same is true of the heart.)

The EEG, or brain wave test, amplifies and measures these very small electric impulses. The pattern of the rise and fall of voltages can tell a good deal that is very difficult to learn by other methods.

A person with epilepsy will have a different brain wave pattern. Indeed, different types of epilepsy can be identified. In certain limited cases, some headaches have a distinctive pattern.

The presence of a brain tumor can be discovered and, moreover, its position can be determined. The same is true of other lesions—scar tissue or the like.

Thus an EEG might be ordered for any number of symptoms, tremors, a tendency to convulsions, headaches and others, and the test in many instances will be of value by indicating what conditions do NOT exist for sound medical examination depends to a substantial extent upon finding out what ailment the patient does NOT have, to guide the doctor to the correct final diagnosis.

Dear Dr. Molner: My married daughter has just been told by her doctor that her uterus is not in normal position. Will you explain what this means in regard to her health and possible future pregnancy?

She had a physical examination before she married in order to begin birth control pills, but was not advised of this condition then. Is it possible it was in normal position then? She has no pain at any time.—Mrs. D.D.

The uterus normally tilts forward, but any position other than this is not likely to interfere with pregnancy unless the displacement is extreme. It is difficult to predict with accuracy, however, if in the future she has difficulty in becoming pregnant, that would be time enough to consider whether anything should be done about it.

Doubtless the uterus was in the same position at the time of her pre-marital examination, but the doctor did not think the displacement significant enough to mention. Sometimes commenting on minor conditions does more harm than good.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told to avoid both sugar and artificial sweeteners, but I need sugar for energy. What can I use for sugar?—Y.N.

It is rare for anyone to have to avoid both sugar and the sweeteners, but if you do, you do. It may make things difficult to go without sweetening, but so far as the energy is concerned, carbohydrates—starchy foods of all kinds—will serve the purpose.

Note to Mrs. L.G.: I never heard of any such thing as she claims was "in the medical journal," and suggest that you ask which journal and what date. Some people use that vague "medical journal" phrase to prove all sorts of things that aren't so.

Roads Principal Subject For Peachland's Council

PEACHLAND — Reeve H. Thwait reported to council that the agreement with the highway department to take over Peachland Avenue as a provincial secondary highway has been signed and returned to Victoria. This must now be signed by the department of highways officials before the official take-over comes into effect.

Resolutions to the UBCM convention in Prince George were handed out to Councillors S. Elstone, and E. Beet, municipal official delegates, for study. Councillor T. R. Stuart will also attend.

Clerk was instructed to write a letter to Ivor Jackson, chairman of the Peachland Centennial Committee inviting him, and members of his committee, to attend the next council meeting Sept. 13, to discuss the completion of Peachland's Centennial Project.

A letter was read from Marbo Holdings Ltd. about the donation of road to join up their subdivision to the R. C. Seed Subdivision, with an agreement for the municipality to sign stating the municipality bear all costs of survey and registration fees. The company also submitted subdivision of Lot 14 for council's approval in principle. The clerk was instructed to inform Marbo Holdings council is not prepared to spend taxpayers' money on subdivision roads, and all fees must be paid by Marbo Holdings.

Councillor Beet of the domestic water department reported that Marbo Holdings had approached him as to using plastic pipe in installing their domestic water system, and thought that council should make a hard-and-fast ruling on standards for installation of these systems now going in. A motion was passed by council that all new domestic water installations in the municipality must be up to minimum provincial standards.

Councillor J. H. Clements reported work on the Trepanier Bridge is progressing well and that the weed mover will be put to work in the next few days.

A letter was read from Mayor R. F. Parkinson of Kelowna asking the municipal endorsement of the Pentiction by-pass. Motion was made to support this request but the clerk was also instructed to point out that another way to help traffic in the south would be to develop the Peachland - Princeton cut-off which would take off 50 or more miles of the present route.

Councillor E. Beet reported that the new pressure switches on pumps are working well at present. Though he stated the final test will come after the first good rain, if they stand up then all the troubles will be over.

Aug. 31 is the day of the visit of the centennial caravan to Peachland and this was declared a civic holiday in the municipality. The reeve and all council members will be present at opening ceremonies at 10:30 a.m. on the school grounds. The reeve at this time will present Peachland's centennial baby, Lenora Dawn MacLaughlin, who was born July 1, with a silver baby cup on behalf of the municipality.

John Norman Pratt attended council to make these arrangements. Mr. Pratt is in charge of this centennial caravan visit.

C. G. Meckling of a firm of Okanagan engineers and consulting company of Kelowna, attended council with nearly-completed legal map of the municipality. These were studied by council and it was decided to go ahead and have the complete mapping of the domestic water system imposed on these immediately. The cost not to exceed $500. Mr. Meckling complimented municipal office staff for all their assistance given with these maps.

P. A. Yendle who owns property in Trepanier petitioned council to have a portion of the Trepanier old road closed. This is not a dedicated road, and runs through his top property Block 1DL174. At present this road is not in general use, only by one family. Council decided that this road will not be closed until money is available to provide a better alternate access to present dedicated road.

J. Hoffman brought to council's attention an error in the new map of Block 490 that is presently coming up for a replatting scheme in the municipality. The road on old municipal maps shows this road to go straight, but it has not done so for many years. It encroaches approximately 60 feet in Mr. Hoffman's property, he said. Mr. Hoffman said he bought his present property in good faith and he thinks council should

The Landing Chooses Water As Focus For Centennial Date

By MABEL JOHNSON

VERNON — Okanagan Landing, five miles west of Vernon, has come up with an unusual angle to its centennial program. It will give to the city of Vernon its $1,650 centennial water recreation project and the Okanagan Landing Community Association, sponsor of the project and originator of the idea, will donate another $220 for the celebration on Sunday, which will include turning over the work to the city of Vernon, and a water sports program.

Specifically, the project includes improvements to Vernon city owned Kinsmen Beach on Okanagan Lake, in Okanagan Landing area. These improvements include a 12 by 40-foot raft with Olympic standard three-meter diving stand and a permanently enclosed 75-meter competitive swim area. Sixty-foot starting and finishing rafts will also be provided, with equipment anchored by dolphin piles.

Also included will be a three by three and one-half foot cairn, built by volunteer labor from naturally-colored granite chips donated by Dr. H. J. Alexander from his Okanagan Lake property at the Landing.

Patricia Jordan, MLA for North Okanagan, minister without portfolio, will officiate at the 2 p.m. Sunday ribbon-cutting ceremony. Mayor Lionel Mercier of Vernon will officiate at the dedication at 2:30 p.m., prior to which there will be a sail-past by the Vernon Yacht Club.

The public is invited to the afternoon's fun, which will include a boat and water safety display by the power squadron;

Lady-Of-The-Lake '66-'67 Contestant For Miss PNE

By FLORA EVANS
Courier Women's Editor

Kelowna's immediate past Lady-of-the-Lake, Sandi Bearsto left by plane this afternoon for Vancouver where she will be a guest of the Pacific National Exhibition and represent Kelowna in the Miss PNE contest.

Sandi, who has done a marvellous job as ambassador for Kelowna during the past year, will be met at the airport by a PNE chaperone and escorted to the Bayshore Inn, where, in company with some 30 more royal ladies from all parts of British Columbia, she will be a guest until next Thursday.

The program of entertainment for the girls competing in the pageant is full, varied and interesting. After their arrival on Saturday they will enjoy a buffet dinner at the Bayshore Inn, before being taken on a tour of the Livestock Building and attend the grandstand show at the stadium.

On Sunday the contestants will parade around the Empire Stadium before watching a football game from the royal box and at 6 p.m. they will attend a garden party to be held in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. C. Terry.

Monday morning there will be rehearsal for the pageant on the PNE outdoor stage, to be followed by a reception in the lounge and lunch in the board room. Later they will be introduced on the stage and attend a fashion show before visiting Teen City and seeing the Oriental Doll Revue in the Forum. At 4:30 they will take in the horse races at the Exhibition Park track and will dine at the track before appearing on the PNE outdoor stage at 8 p.m.

Tuesday morning they will tour the Food Circus and Show Mart, lunch at the Centennial Pavillion on Burnaby Mountain, then tour the Manufacturers Building before being introduced at the Logging Show which they will watch. They will meet again in the PNE lounge in the evening and dine in the board room before appearing on the outdoor stage.

Wednesday they will enjoy a bus tour through Stanley Park and will be the luncheon guests of the park's board at the pavilion. Later their hair will be dressed at the Maison Lawrence and they will return to the Bayshore Inn for a quiet dinner in their rooms before the finals of pageant.

After Miss PNE has been chosen and crowned the girls will visit Playland with the PNE director, and the evening will be concluded with a final party in the board room.

On Thursday all the girls will return home with the exception of the new Miss PNE, who will remain in Vancouver until Sept. 4.

All the contestants are lovely girls, carefully chosen by their home communities and all will enjoy every moment of their experience as guests of the PNE. Sadly enough there can only be one Miss PNE, but Kelowna feels we have, at least, a very strong contender in our lovely Sandi, and we wish her the very best of luck.

Valley Wide Yukon Association Formed

Some 60 - odd Yukoners, friends and families followed the "Trail of '98" into The Diggings on Friendship Gulch last Sunday afternoon in Polson Park, Vernon. The entire length of the Okanagan Valley was well represented, they came from Kamloops, Salmon Arm, Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton. One family travelling through the Valley from Whitehorse, Yukon, on their way to Vancouver stopped by and lingered on The Trail with friends as did a family from Edmonton.

When Yukoners get together there is always so much to talk about. Reminiscing takes over, and days of yore, the yesterdays and the todays are crammed into one brief afternoon. The golden bond of Yukon friendships grow stronger and more deeply cherished as the years go by.

There is a rare closeness that exists among them and a greater depth of understanding and tolerance than one might find any other place on earth. Wherever Yukoners gather together that ground becomes literally sprinkled with their old dust of memories and they stand once again on old familiar ground.

An association was formed and it is intended that it be Valley-wide and Valley-long. Each town represented to take a turn at hosting the association for one year. We welcome Yukoners to join us in our newest Roadhouse on The Trail of The Klondike.

Officers for 1967-68 are: President, Mrs. Alex C. McCarter, 2803-40 St., Vernon; vice - president, Mrs. Olive Tingle, Cunliffe Road, RR 2, Vernon; secretary - treasurer, Ron Jenner, RR 3, Vernon. A roster of directors will be named shortly, one from each town or city represented in the Valley.

I feel no bitterness toward my mother—I am sorry for her. I am deeply grateful to my teacher and my counsellor and to a family friend who is paying for my therapy. (One day I'll pay her back.)

Please tell all parents that if their kids ask for help, to swallow their pride and let them have it. After they reach adulthood it may be too late.—ON MY WAY

Dear On Your Way: When parents ask me if they should agree to let a child get professional help I always encourage it. The child who ASKS is half cured because he wants to be well. Thank you for your letter, honey. I am proud of you for meeting your problem head-on and slugging it out.

New Shop Offers The African Look

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Think African" Rosanna Wright suggests to Negro women coming to her shop.

The brightly printed cotton styles will replace the mod look as the latest clothing fad, she predicts.

The shop selling "the African look" was opened Tuesday by Negro self-help organization called Operation Bootstrap. Mrs. Wright wears the loose dress styles patterned after African garb and has had her hair cut in the shot style of African women.

Most of the dresses are made in Los Angeles of printed cotton imported from Ghana and Nigeria.

Canadian Family Travel By Car Throughout The Soviet Union

NEW DELHI (AP)—A Canadian couple has completed a rigorous drive with their two children the length of the Soviet Union. They report food shortages everywhere except in Moscow.

What food they did find was extremely expensive, say Simon and Christine Feldman of Montreal. Their biggest complaint was against a Russian major at a town near the Iranian border, whose actions made the Feldmans and their sons—11 and 5—go without food for 24 hours. Feldman says: "This is one thing I'll never forget or forgive them for."

The Feldmans are making a round-the-world trip in a self-contained camper truck made in Britain.

Feldman says in 1963 he retired from his dressmaking business in Montreal and moved to Miami Beach. He also had trotting horses and toured the circuit with them during the season, under the Galla had Farms colors.

STARTED IN FRANCE
In 1966 they decided to see the world. They started in France and drove south through Europe to Israel, Syria and Jordan. They went through Turkey, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Poland, East Germany and into Scandinavia.

They entered Russia at Vyborg, on the Finnish border, and drove 3,000 miles through the Soviet Union in 30 days. From Iran they crossed Afghanistan and Pakistan, and from New Delhi were going south to Madras and a ferry trip to Ceylon.

"When you travel overland in the Soviet Union you are supposed to stay each night at the tourist camps," Feldman says. "But the roads are so bad it takes about 18 hours from one camp to another—yet you are not supposed to travel after dark."

"We did and no one ever stopped us."

"The only place we found with enough food was the Dollar Shop in Moscow. Food was much cheaper there also. Other places tomatoes were 75 cents a pound and cherries $1.50 a pound, for instance. Potatoes just weren't available, and the meat looked like it had been chewed by animals."

DEMANDED FINES
Police stopped him several times and demanded ruble fines for illegal parking, speeding or illegal passing. Each time he demanded to be shown the traffic sign concerned and when they could not show it, he refused, successfully, to pay the fines.

"Everywhere in the Soviet Union we saw a lot of drunks on the streets," Feldman said. "It is one of the things that stands out most in our minds." "Also, the farther south we went, the dirtier the camps got. Trucks were broken down all along the highway. If you picked up all the parts you see along the road you could build your own truck, I think."

BEACH HAD TROUBLE
The French Riviera has experienced more horrors of war than any other part of France. For nearly 2,000 years conquerors have pillaged the coastal towns.

ANN LANDERS

She Must Shape Up Even If She Moves

Dear Ann Landers: Our 18-year-old daughter is very attractive and has always been popular. We sent Marylou to a fine school last year where she joined a sorority. In June I drove up to bring her home for the summer. When she left the sorority house she was noticeably upset and ran out in a hurry, avoiding farewells. When we drove off, Marylou broke into sobs and I couldn't get her to talk for half an hour. Finally she removed her head scarf and I was horrified. Her hair had been cut short and the letter W was shaved on the top of her head. Marylou tells this story. The night before, she returned from a date inebriated and then passed out. When she awakened she discovered what her sorority sisters had done to her. She claims it was because she had dated a fellow who had been previously planned to one of the girls. Frankly, I wonder about this.

Now the question: Should Marylou return to that school? She wants to go back but not to the sorority house. I say she is ruined on that campus and would be better off elsewhere. What is your opinion?—S.M.

Dear S.M.: The decision should be hers, but I am inclined to agree with you. Mother. The sorority girls sound vicious and cruel and you can be sure that the barbering episode received wide coverage.

More to the point, however, Marylou will do no better elsewhere unless she swears off the booze. A girl who gets smashed and passes out is lucky if nothing worse happens to her than a shaved head.

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this message to all parents of children who have emotional problems.

I am a girl 18. For a long time I was depressed and unhappy. I asked my mother if she would send me for counselling but she refused. She said I was "going through a stage" and I would outgrow it. I know now that she didn't want to send me because it would make her look a failure as a mother.

Finally I was afraid I might commit suicide so I went to my teacher. That wonderful woman arranged counselling on the sly.

After eight months of hard work no miracles have been accomplished, but I am learning to live with myself and with others. I am determined to continue the sessions as long as is necessary because I have a beautiful future to work for.

I feel no bitterness toward my mother—I am sorry for her. I am deeply grateful to my teacher and my counsellor and to a family friend who is paying for my therapy. (One day I'll pay her back.)

Please tell all parents that if their kids ask for help, to swallow their pride and let them have it. After they reach adulthood it may be too late.—ON MY WAY

Dear On Your Way: When parents ask me if they should agree to let a child get professional help I always encourage it. The child who ASKS is half cured because he wants to be well. Thank you for your letter, honey. I am proud of you for meeting your problem head-on and slugging it out.

CONFIDENTIAL. TO SO IN LOVE. This is love? You can't stand him when he's drunk and he can't stand you when he's sober. Forget it, Doll.

Bombers Rocked By Late Touchdown

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It took a last-minute touchdown to do it, but Saskatchewan Roughriders knocked off Winnipeg Blue Bombers 24-18 Friday night in Regina to grab a share of first place in the Western Football Conference.

And with most pre-season predictions calling for the Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders to battle for the WFC crown, the guessers look pretty good today.

The defending Grey Cup champion Riders are tied with Calgary, each with three victories. Winnipeg and Edmonton are deadlocked for third while British Columbia Lions are on the bottom with four straight setbacks. The Lions try again Sunday afternoon in Vancouver against the Stampeders.

At Regina Friday night, Saskatchewan quarterback Ron Lancaster rallied his forces as time was running out, after Winnipeg had pulled even at 18-18.

ED BUCHANAN
... touchdown

He found Alan Ford with a over from the one on a keeper play to end it.

It was a tough loss for the Bombers, especially for second string quarterback Bill Van Burkleo, who replaced Kenny Ploen in the second quarter. Ploen left with a badly bruised shoulder, and was followed minutes later by fullback Butch Pressley, also with a shoulder injury.

Van Burkleo's passing was the key to Winnipeg's comeback in the final quarter, when the Bombers scored two touchdowns to erase an 18-5 deficit. Long passes to Ken Neilson set up both of them, one from the Saskatchewan seven and one from the eight.

Winnipeg's other points Friday night came from Ernie Kyryk's convert and field goal, and a safety touch.

Before Lancaster's game-winning, Saskatchewan had touchdowns from George Reed and Ed Buchanan, both converted by Jack Abendschan. Abendschan also kicked a single and a field goal.

LIONS REVAMPED
As the scene shifts to Vancouver Sunday, Calgary Stampeders will face a revamped B.C. team, playing for the first time under new coach Jim Champness.

With Tom Brown retired for medical reasons, linebacker Rudy Reschke will move in as defensive left end. At the other end will be rookie Bill Butler, filling in for Wayne Foster who suffered a knee injury Tuesday in practice.

Champness made other changes Friday as well. He cut rookie defensive back Grant Martinson from Utah State and replaced him with Steve Shafer, who sat out the last game.

Martinson's spot on the import roster was taken by quarterback Dave Mathieson, a Washington State graduate who has been on taxi squads for the National Football League for three seasons.

In another signing Friday, the Lions picked up non-import wide receiver Sorkorum, 23, an American classed as a non-import because he didn't play high school or college football in the U.S. before his 21st birthday, will spell Paul Bureson at split end.

double and then ignited a tree-run fourth with a single. The sweep gave the Phillies five straight victories. Mel Queen throttled Houston on five hits until the eighth inning, and Ted Abner a fly came out of the bullpen to finish off Cincinnati shaded the Astros.

The Dodgers finally caught up with longtime nemesis Larry Jaster when they nipped the Cardinals in the first game of their doubleheader. Jaster had beaten Los Angeles six straight times—five of them consecutive shutouts last season.

Bill Singer, 34, won his seventh straight in the opener and touched off the Dodgers' winning rally with a sixth-inning double. Willie Davis followed with a triple for one run and then Lou Johnson's sacrifice fly brought Davis home with the tie-breaking run.

Orlando Cepeda's fourth-inning homer snapped a tie game in the nightcap and keyed the Cardinals to their victory.

Inter-District Softball Finals Start Sunday At King's Stadium

It will be a busy weekend for local softball fans. The inter-district senior B finals will be held at King's Stadium Sunday and an exhibition game between the Vernon O'Keefes and Royal Anne Royals will be played today at 7:30 p.m. at King's Stadium.

The district finals will have the Kelowna and District League champion Rutland Rovers meeting the Kamloops champs Plaza Hotel. The winner of this best of three final will enter the B.C. finals at King's Stadium Labor Day weekend. Game times are 2 p.m., 4 p.m. and, if necessary, 6 p.m. Rovers are expected to start Arnie Rath, winner of five playoff games this season, in the first game and use Ken Hehn, 6-3 on the regular season, in the second game.

Plaza Hotel won the right to represent Kamloops in the tournament by winning a four team tournament that included teams such as Ye Old Pizza and Legion. Both are respected clubs in the north.

Don Rimicki is the Plaza pitching ace. He led his team to a second place finish in a league that had a senior A team—the Highlanders—on top. Mel Rickey, whom the Royals picked up for the Centennial softball tournament here in July, is another Plaza stalwart. He hit a pinch homer for Royals in the series.

The exhibition tilt is a warm up match for Royals. On the basis of its first place finish, Royals have an automatic berth in the B.C. finals. The team has not been in action since Rovers knocked them out Aug. 14.

East Section Of PCL Closed But Western Route Wide Open

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The San Diego Padres have a tight grip on the Eastern Division lead as the 1967 Pacific Coast League baseball season nears its end but a heated battle continues for the top spot in the Western Division.

The Padres suffered their third straight loss Friday night as they bowed to second-place Oklahoma City 2-1 but they still appeared to have clinched the Eastern Division title. Oklahoma trails by 10 games with only 11 games remaining in regulation play.

In the Western Division, the Vancouver Mounties edged Portland Beavers 4-2 while Seattle defeated Spokane 7-3.

In other league action Friday, Tulsa edged Indianapolis 11-10 in 13 innings and Phoenix beat Denver 7-5.

San Diego's Larry Loughlin and Oklahoma's Jim Ray engaged in a sharp pitching duel at Oklahoma City with both hurling four innings of no-hit ball.

The Vancouver Mounties, sparked by Larry Elliott's two-run homer, ran up a 4-0 fifth inning lead and held down a late Hawaii rally to edge the Islanders. Hawaii scored once in the sixth then added two more in the eighth.

Ed Kirkpatrick slammed a three-run homer to pace the Seattle Angels to victory at Spokane. Southpaw Tom Burmeier went the distance for the Angels, for his 11th victory against 12 losses.

Tacoma and Portland battled to a seventh inning tie and held each other scoreless until the ninth when Tacoma's George Altman and Lee Elia singled then came home on a sacrifice and two singles.

Elio Cacon banged out four hits for four runs to lead Tulsa to victory over Indianapolis. The Oilers were leading 10-5 and appeared to have the game won when Jim Hicks hit a grand slam homer in the top of the ninth to lead a five-run rally and tie up the game.

Time Trials Today For Grand Prix Race

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP)—Drivers get down to serious business today of setting fast lap times to decide positions on the starting grid in Sunday's Grand Prix of Canada, the first race ever held in this country for Formula I cars.

Former world champion Jim Clark of Scotland showed the other 17 entrants what he could do Friday when he bettered the lap record over the twisting 2.45-mile road course by turning in a practice time of one minute, 22.9 seconds, an average of 106 miles an hour in his Ford-powered Lotus.

The record of 1:23.1, set a year ago by Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., in a Lola T70 sports car, stands, however, because official lap marks must be set in competition.

Gurney's Friday practice performance was impressive as he slid his American Eagle at 11:11 a.m. through the tricky hair-pin Moss Corner, tightest of the track's 10 curves.

18 TO START
Altogether 18 drivers are expected to be on the starting grid when the green flag drops at 2 p.m. Sunday for the 220-mile race of 90 laps around the asphalt circuit.

Prize money is $100,000 with the winner likely to take $10,000. Victory also means nine points toward the world driver's championship and New Zealander Denis Hulme now is in the lead with 37 points.

Friday, Hulme negotiated the course in his Brabham in 1:23.6, the next best time to Clark's.

Three drivers are making their Formula I debut in a big league dominated by former world champions Clark and Graham Hill of England and Australia Jack Brabham, reigning titlist.

They are Torontonians Al Pease and Eppie Wietzes and Mike Fisher of the United States.

Pease, driving an Eagle, was timed at 1:34.0.

Wietzes, whose Lotus-Ford was bent by Clark in practice Thursday, was unable to get on the track in time for Friday's practice.

Fisher drove a Lotus-BRM with a lap time of 1:35.3.

Many Must Be Responsible For Gap In Catholic Church

ONTARIO (CP)—Bishops, priests and laity must share responsibility for a "desperate gap" between the paper confirmation of renewal in the Roman Catholic Church effected at the second Vatican council and the reality of its practice at the diocesan and parish level, a British Columbia bishop said Monday.

There has been progress at all levels, however, said Most Rev. Remi J. De Roo, Bishop of Victoria. He had seen its fruits in the libraries of North American bishops, in the work of the clergy and in the responses of a growing number of laity and religious sisters.

Where there has been delay on the part of bishops, part can be laid to "a problem of tensions," but mostly it is the result of a passive resistance an eager bishop meets when he branches change, he said.

Priests are having their own problem of identity, that preoccupies them, the bishop said at a press conference. Until the clergy find their true relationship to the hierarchy, it will be difficult for the bishops in attempts to get them to start living, thinking and practicing the renewed life of the church.

The greatest difficulty, however, is the passive resistance of the laity, he said.

"How many people will let their bishops be the new bishops of the Vatican council?" he asked.

Too many Catholic people, in a mistaken understanding of obedience, have become accustomed to being told what to do, and seek only to follow the leadership of their bishops.

One of the goals of the Congress on the Theology of the Renewal, which Bishop De Roo is attending, is to find ways of stimulating a more popular interest in theology, he said.

Bishop De Roo, with Rev. Gregory Baum of Toronto, is an adviser to the 200 correspondents reporting the congress.

At one of 10 working sessions of the congress, an American rabbi told some of the 2,000 delegates that the task of Christian renewal should first be the renewal of man.

"Renewal of man is the issue, not renewal of the church," said Rabbi Abraham Heschel of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in New York.

MAKES FEW DEMANDS
The 60-year-old teacher of philosophy said Christianity today makes "too many promises and too few demands."

A similar criticism of the Christian church in the West was voiced later by an archbishop of the Greek-Melkite Catholic Church.

"The yielding that one finds in the sudden turns of Western thought at a time when everything invites it too, dialogue ought to find its corrective counterpart in the Eastern world," said Most Rev. George S. Hakim.

Archbishop Hakim, only Catholic bishop resident in Israel, was speaking on unity in diversity at a plenary session of the congress.

His paper set the theme for today's 10 working sessions, the renewal of the life of the church in structure and ecclesial reality.

Archbishop Hakim, supporting the advantages diversity could bring to church unity, said it is necessary for the churches to come closer together, at a time when "Western and Eastern Christianity must sustain each other."

He warned, however, that diversity is only useful if it animates a spirit of unity.

'Dangerous Man' Jailed 22 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—A burglar who specialized in entering the apartments of attractive single women was sentenced Friday to 22 years in penitentiary, one of the stiffest sentences handed down here in recent years.

Arthur William Burke, 27, pleaded guilty to nine charges of breaking and entering and five of indecent assault.

Police testified that Burke three times threatened young women with death if they did not accept his advances.

Magistrate C. E. Carter said the husky truck driver was a "dangerous and vicious man" who had to be put away for the protection of society.

She immediately finessed the queen of diamonds and cashed the ace, the Swedish West contributing the jack and the king. Miss Shanahan could count only eight sure tricks at this point, since she had no entry to her hand, but, when she cashed the A-K-Q-J of spades, this became the position:

Opening lead—three of hearts. To run a long suit and force the opponents to discard is one of declarer's strongest weapons, and quite often this measure leaves one or possibly both defenders completely helpless.

Here is an unusual case which occurred during the 1965 European Women's Championship in the match between Great Britain and Sweden. Declarer for Britain was Dorothy Shanahan, playing with Mrs. Riki Markus.

West led a heart against three notrump and Miss Shanahan won the jack with the king.

When Miss Shanahan now cashed dummy's last spade, discarding a diamond from her hand, West had an uncomfortable discard to make. A club discard would permit declarer to lead a low club from dummy and force West to return a heart, while a heart discard would allow declarer to lead a heart from dummy and force West to eventually concede the ninth trick to dummy's king of clubs.

Actually, West elected to discard a club and the outcome was that Miss Shanahan made five notrump on the hand. This resulted in a considerable gain for the British team, since the Swedish North-South pair at the other table bid and made precisely two spades.

...I QUIT SCHOOL WHEN I WERE 16 ...and Are I Ever Sorry!

You're young—probably between 15 and 18. You're enthusiastic and confident about the future. You're sure you can make out without a lot of education, and besides, it's not much fun, so you figure you'll quit and get a high paying job so you can live it up a little. DON'T DO IT! When you're 30 years old and still taking home the same size pay-check, you'll regret it—and regret it for the rest of your life.

Today's industrial and business world demands highly-skilled, fully educated young people, at least high school and preferably college. So, what's in it for you? Big pay, better job, nicer cars, newer home, and a knowledge that your children will look up to you and respect you more for having had the good sense to get an education that will provide them with the things you want them to have.

Today's World Calls For More and Better Skills . .

Scripture—Acts 21: 1-23:11.

By Alfred J. Buescher

Journeying to Jerusalem for the Feast of Pentecost, Paul was warned several times of the tribulations awaiting him there, but continued undeterred. —Acts 21:1-17.

After a reunion with the church elders, Paul and his companions took Nazareth vows. Despite this, he was seized, falsely accused and beaten by a mob. —Acts 21:18-31.

Rescued and arrested by Roman soldiers, Paul addressed the mob, telling of his background and present life. They listened but were unmoved. —Acts 21:32-22:1.

After asserting his Roman citizenship, Paul went before the Sanhedrin, but again had to be rescued and was jailed. Acts 22:22-23:11.

Possibility Of Union May See Some Switch

OTTAWA (CP)—There is a possibility that some Anglicans will want to join the Roman Catholic Church if there is union between their church and the United Church of Canada, says Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, archbishop of Rupert's Land and Anglican primate of all Canada.

Charges Must Be Accepted By Roman Catholic Church

TORONTO (CP)—Roman Catholics must accept changes in the civil and political life of their church that will result from its renewal, the clerical editor of a Rome magazine said Wednesday.

Cardinal Confident

TORONTO (CP)—A Belgian cardinal Tuesday spoke confidently of a Roman Catholic Church "now on the way to some Vatican III," while a Dutch theologian said a worldwide synod of bishops next month will decide "whether the trend of the second Vatican council is confirmed or reversed."

Leo-Joseph Cardinal Suenens, Archbishop of Malines-Brussels, was delivering a plenary address to the Congress on the Theology of the Renewal of the Church.

Dr. Edward Schillebeeckx of the Catholic University in Nijmegen, Holland, was speaking at a press conference during the congress.

"As the years go on, it will be seen more clearly that this council was a very fruitful one, and that it pruned back certain shoots only to assure 'fuller development of the tree,'" said Cardinal Suenens in reference to the second Vatican council.

Seaking in French, the 63-year-old cardinal discussed the council in relation to the past and to the future.

The council, which started the church on the search for renewal, was the soil in which "seeds of life" were planted, he said.

"Where I asked which of these seeds of life is richest in pastoral consequences, I should reply: The rediscovery of the people of God as a totality, and the co-responsibility that flows as a consequence from it for all the members."

Renewal does not mean a return to the past or to restore the church as it was, but "in continuity with the past, to go forth to meet the Lord and to answer His new invitations."

MEETING IMPORTANT
Dr. Schillebeeckx told a press conference earlier in the day that next month's meeting of bishops with Pope Paul will be "very, very important."

"At it there will be decided whether the trend of the Vatican council is confirmed or reversed."

Dominionaires In Kelowna

One of Western Canada's finest gospel singing groups, the Dominionaires quartet from Calgary will appear at 8 p.m. in the Apostolic Church at 2912 Tutt St.

The Dominionaires are a dynamic inter-denominational gospel team representing five different churches in the city of Calgary. They travel extensively throughout the western provinces and states ministering in song and word to church congregations, conventions, rallies and concerts. Many of the old favorite gospel hymns are given a fresh new sound by this talented group and their repertoire includes a number of brand new southern gospel songs written by Del Delamont, their pianist and arranger. They have also recently released a "Canadian Centennial" record album on their own Dominion label.

Every member of the Dominionaires is an accomplished musician in his own right and although their presentation is primarily vocal, the five members have mastered over 10 instruments among them. The versatility of their outstanding quartet is portrayed in every song they sing and their program is enjoyed and appreciated by young and old alike.

SWIMMING CLASSLESS
LONDON (CP)—A survey of leisure pursuits found swimming to be the most popular among all social classes. Fishing, hiking and camping came in second. Lower-class groups tend to favor gardening.

Ottawa Watching Provinces On House Building Moves

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government is watching the provincial governments, chartered banks, and major insurance companies for an indication of their activity in financing house construction, an informant said Thursday.

This was behind Prime Minister Pearson's statement at a press conference Wednesday that the federal government will delay until later any decision to inject additional federal funds into mortgages.

The federal government this year allocated $750,000,000 for lending by Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., sparking a major house-building drive in the spring months. While CMHC has some of this money still available for the balance of the year, the amount is not large, officials said.

Normally, the approved lenders under the National Housing Act—mainly the large insurance companies—do come into the mortgage-lending field during the latter part of the year.

Two additional factors, the government feels, should put more money into housing this year.

One is the new Bank Act which went into effect this spring, enabling the chartered banks to go into mortgage lending with repayment guaranteed under NHA.

The banks have not yet, however, gone into mortgage lending in a large way since the new Bank Act came into effect.

Another factor is the extent to which provincial governments may get into direct lending, a direction in which Ontario is moving with its Home Ownership Made Easy (HOME) plan.

How To Stop Paint Peeling

QUESTION: How can I keep paint from peeling off my outside window trim. The house siding is in excellent condition.

ANSWER: Good condition isn't the main factor here. What you'd better do, I suspect, is renew the caulking between window frame and siding. Inspecting all around the frames, with the help of a reading glass, if necessary, is needed at regular intervals. That's the only way you can spot potential leaks in time to plug them before damage can begin.

WHAT PAINT FOR METAL

QUESTION: Can the same paint be used for metal casements as on wood?

ANSWER: Sometimes. The faces and outdoor exposures. Being useable on wood is secondary. Some enamels are OK on both types of surfaces.

SMOLDERING TIRE

QUESTION: Our garage, especially the roof, is all smoked up from a spare tire which smoldered all night. I washed the walls OK. But the ceiling is quite sooty and greasy. Since I'd like to paint the entire interior, do you think an extra coat of paint will serve to cover the rough boards of the ceiling?

ANSWER: I doubt it. Too much greasy soot. However, give it a pretty good once-over with detergent. Then I believe the paint will hide the remainder.

P.S. If a smoke odor persists, which is usually the main characteristic to make case, after the washing, get an estimate for deodorizing. In practically every city of any size, there are smoke-removal services. They specialize in making office buildings and homes habitable again after fires.

REMOVING HAIR DYE STAIN

QUESTION: A bottle of hair dye, containing silver nitrate, according to the label, left an indelible stain when it spilled in my wash basin. I've tried every cleaner in the house. Is there any way to do this clean-up?

ANSWER: If there's a photographic darkroom in the house, your troubles are over. First, wipe the stain with ordinary iodine, which will change the color. Then rinse with a moderate solution of photographic hypo. The stain will vanish. If you have no hypo, get a small box at any camera shop. Mixing directions right on the box.

Quads All Well In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 34-year-old mother of six children gave birth early today to quadruplet boys in DePaul Hospital.

Dr. Nicholas C. Correnti, the attending physician, said the mother, Mrs. Richard Fahrenkrog, and her sons are in good condition.

The first boy, born at 1:03 a.m., weighed five pounds, two ounces; the second four pounds, seven ounces; the third four pounds, three ounces, and the fourth, five pounds, one ounce.

The Fahrenkrogs' other children — three boys and three girls—range from one to nine years of age. The father is an electrical engineer.

Rockwell A Man Who Talked Big — And Walked With Bully-Boys

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—George Lincoln Rockwell talked big.

He surrounded himself with bully boys in Nazi uniforms, called himself a fuhrer and told everyone he would be elected president of the United States in 1972.

But he died alone Friday in a 10-year-old car—the windshield shattered by a sniper's bullets—after doing his own dirty laundry in a laundromat.

The tall, dark Rockwell founded the American Nazi party in 1958 after a succession of business failures, two marriages and service as a U.S. Navy pilot in the Second World War and the Korean War.

He was so anti-Nazi, say college friends, that he dropped out of Brown University in 1940 to enlist in the navy.

But back in the navy a dozen years later in California, Rockwell was exposed to right-wing, anti-Semitic literature. And then he read Adolf Hitler's Mein Kampf.

"I was hypnotized, transfixed," he related later. "With- in a year I was an all-out Nazi, worshipping the greatest mind in two thousand years—Adolf Hitler."

Rockwell charted a hate cam- paign he said would lead him

Greek Junta Jails 33

ATHENS (Reuters)—Thirty- one persons were sentenced today to prison terms ranging from 10 months to nine years for disobeying Greek military orders spreading false reports and insulting the authorities.

Their trial, which opened Wednesday, was the first mass hearing in a military court of persons alleged to have been involved in a resistance move- ment after the army took over in Greece in April.

Four of the accused, includ- ing former MP Panayotis Kat- sikopoulos, were sentenced to nine years. Three others were acquitted.

Nineteen of the accused were sentenced to terms of one year but 17 sentences were suspend- ed. Two were sentenced to three years, one to two years and one to a suspended term of 10 months.

The only woman among the accused, a girl of 22, was among the three acquitted. The accused, mostly mem- bers of the disbanded young organization of the Central Union party, were arrested in June.

The court said they had writ- ten, printed and distributed anti-government leaflets which were insulting, inaccurate and subversive.
